The meeting will take place right after the church service on August 15th.

This Week's Sermon:

What do we expect from the church, and what do we expect from God? We rely on the promise that God is faithful to us and that his spirit-led community we call the church will be there to aid us in our lives as we seek to grow, mentally, physically, and spiritually. That God and his church will be there to celebrate with us in times of joy, hurt with us in times of sorrow, pray for and comfort us in times of sickness, and support us in times of need. Is it wrong to expect as much? I think not. Jesus Christ has covenanted with us that we will never be left desolate, but through the Holy Spirit his presence will forever be with us.

However, what should we expect from ourselves as we seek to grow spiritually? What do we contribute to God's kingdom here on earth? In what way do we seek spiritual sustenance as we seek to follow God? In other words, what are we seeking as we travel down this twisty and turny road called faith? Are we just seeking earthly comfort and companionship or is there more to discipleship than that?

In today's scripture, Jesus is talking about receiving the true bread of heaven. We receive the true bread from heaven when we act out of our faith. Our hearts are transformed, our minds are renewed and our souls are sustained. Through this spiritual sustenance, our lives are reshaped to look upon all others through the love of God and leading of the Holy Spirit that resides within.

As the church, we gather together to share this life-giving bread with the world around us.
